From: Emma
To: Sophie
Subject: Re: New Year's plans

Hi Sophie,

I know you're not sure what to do on New Year's Eve. I had a similar situation last year. I didn't want to go to a big party because I thought it would be too noisy and crowded. Instead, I invited two close friends to my house. We cooked dinner, played games and watched fireworks from the balcony. It was much better than I expected!

Why don't you try having a small celebration at home? I'm sure you'll enjoy it.

Emma

A.ask for help.

We watched films, ate snacks and played board games. It wasn't the celebration I had imagined, but I still had a good time. Maybe next year the weather will be better!

LUCY

Last year, I spent New Year's Eve with my grandparents in the countryside. At first, I thought it would be boring because there were no big parties or fireworks shows nearby. However, my grandparents prepared a special evening for us. We cooked dinner together, played old family games and wrote down our wishes for the new year. The best moment was when we opened the small boxes with our wishes from the previous year and checked which dreams came true.
